

Frida Fåk Hållenius

Associate Professor
Lund University, Sweden

Biography

Assoc. Prof. Frida Fåk Hållenius is coordinator of the Gut Microbiome Laboratory at the Food for Health Science Centre at Lund University and her research team focuses on modulation of the gut microbiota with new food concepts for prevention of metabolic and neurodegenerative diseases. She has been awarded with a 3-year Excellence grant from the Pålsson Foundation, a 4-year EU grant of € 1.2 million, a 3-year grant for young scientific leaders from the research council FORMAS and she is one of six members of a creative research environment appointed by Lund University's Medical faculty.

