

Philip Dubé, PhD
Field Applications Scientist
Taconic Biosciences, USA

Biography

Dr. Philip Dubé (philip.dube@taconic.com) is an Applications Scientist at Taconic Biosciences. Dr. Dubé has a Ph.D. in Physiology and an Honor's B.Sc. in Pharmacology from the University of Toronto. He has over 16 years of experience in the use of rodent models, and provides a wide range of knowledge in the application and execution of successful research studies.

He specializes in animal models for microbiome, inflammatory disorders, oncology, immuno-oncology and metabolic disease research; gnotobiotic and germ-free animal models, their care and use; genetics of rodent animal models; general animal husbandry, care and use.

