

Niclas Adler
Executive Chairman
NGT-Partners

Niclas Adler is presently Chairman for NGT Partners that manages life-science investment funds and target specific transactions.

Niclas has the last 25 years combined the roles of serial entrepreneur, investor and academic in the global health-care innovation space. Niclas has been engaged as co-founder, executive and board member in 22 different biotech, telemedicine and health-care solution companies.

Niclas has extensive experiences from IPO and trade-sales of successful ventures and have served as board member and Chairman of several listed companies. Besides entrepreneurial, investor and academic positions

Niclas has been fellow at the Sunningdale Institute advising UK National Health Services, has been project leader for World Economic Forums annual Global Competitiveness Study in Sweden been part of WISH – World Innovation Summit for Health organized annually in Doha.

